Headline:
Further gales and showers on Tuesday. Brighter, drier on Wednesday.

Today:
Cloudy through much of the morning with patchy rain or showers. Becoming brighter but more unsettled in the afternoon, the showers turning heavier and merging into longer spells of rain. Very windy, with gales likely in Essex and Suffolk. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
A band of heavy showers will slowly clear south during the evening, followed by a dry night with largely clear skies. Chilly around dawn, with mist and shallow fog patches. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Wednesday:
A cold but largely sunny start. A mixture of sunny spells and scattered showers otherwise, locally heavy during the afternoon. Showers dying away during the evening. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Sunny spells and isolated showers on Thursday and Friday. Largely dry. Becoming wet and windy after a bright start Saturday. Remaining chilly, with some overnight frosts.
